41st Annual Meeting

2 - 6 AUGUST, 2016

CAPE TOWN - SOUTH AFRICA

WELCOME FROM 2016 HOSTS

We welcome you to the beautiful city of Cape Town, South Africa, and the 41st annual meeting of the International Urogynecological Association. Breathtaking views await you and a scientific meeting that will focus on an array of topics will surely make this meeting one to remember. As co-chairs of this event we are very proud this will be the first meeting of IUGA to be held in Cape Town. Dedicated to gynecologists, urologists, urogynecologists, gastroenterologists, pain specialists, rehabilitation physicians, neurologists, and physiotherapists the meeting is a fantastic opportunity to gather knowledge and improve our multidisciplinary practice.

The Program Committee, with the help of the Local Organizing Committee, has designed a schedule featuring groundbreaking research, scientific advancement and innovative technologies that have been developed over the past year. As the leading event in Urogynecology, we are excited to unveil new and exclusive research.

Connect with internationally-respected experts while accessing cutting edge educational programs including: more than 25 pre-conference workshops, over 125 oral scientific presentations, five lectures, and the ever popular Meet the Experts Roundtable Breakfasts, industry supported educational events and new this year - 16 different mini state of the art lectures in almost every session. The Exhibit Hall will showcase innovative and relevant products and services.

No IUGA meeting is complete without our social programs! Plan to network with colleagues and friends at the Welcome Reception on Wednesday, August 3rd and our Friday Night Dinner on August 5th. These fun occasions (listed on Page 15) will allow you to catch-up with old friends and meet new colleagues.

Take advantage of this invaluable learning experience while enjoying the hospitality of Cape Town and the beauty of South Africa!

WELCOME FROM OUR PRESIDENT

Dear colleagues and friends,

Welcome to Cape Town, South Africa as we celebrate the 41st Annual Meeting.

This is undoubtedly the premier urogynecological meeting of the year. In order to meet this goal, the programme committee along with the help of the local organizing committee has structured a unique blend of stimulating science and varied social activities.

Our hosts, Peter de Jong and Stephen Jeffery (Local Organizing Committee Co-Chairs), along with their colleagues and the IUGA Programme Committee led by Raneer Thakar, have prepared an excellent scientific programme including workshops and lectures.

Due to the positive responses from our mini state of the art lectures last year, we are pleased to be able to present to you 16 different lectures. The topics range from "Uterine Prolapse: Passenger or Perpetrator" to "Robotic Surgery in Urogynecology" to "Stem cell research". The Ulf Ulmsten Lecture is always informative and thought provoking and this year it is no different. "From Bench to Bedside in Pelvic Floor Surgery" by Jan Deprest will be of interest to everyone.

The IUGA Scientific Committee led by Dudley Robinson has selected the best and most interesting abstracts for presentation, from almost 400 submitted. New this year, there will be e-Poster Presentations which will be held during lunch on Thursday and Friday. All this makes for very exciting and stimulating scientific sessions.

The meeting is timely for all our members including surgeons, physiotherapists and specialist nurses. For example we are acutely aware of the current controversies surrounding mesh, tapes, obstetric practice and anal sphincter trauma, and 'cosmetic surgery'; all of these will be addressed which will hopefully stimulate discussion and provide useful guidance. There will also be a full and exciting programme relating to conservative management as we continue to promote physiotherapy and pelvic floor rehabilitation.

South Africa is a great tourism destination, recently voted the best city in the World by Telegraph Travel. There will be plenty for you and accompanying persons to do and see. I encourage you to spend a few extra days to appreciate the flavor and all that Cape Town has to offer.

Enjoy IUGA's 41st annual meeting!

Warmest Regards,

Bob Freeman

IUGA

ABOUT IUGA

The International Urogynecological Association (IUGA) is a not-for-profit international professional medical organization with a defined mission, to “advance urogynecological knowledge around the world”. It was founded in 1975 and Axel Ingelman-Sundberg, as its first President, began a tradition of scientific integrity in the study of urogynecology that IUGA, with its rapidly growing membership, has continued to foster. The international base of the society includes representation from 70 countries, which allows for the prompt dissemination of new ideas throughout the world. New 85+ educational programs have included the IUGA eXchange, which has enabled experienced urogynecologists to share knowledge in countries and regions where there is little clinical expertise in the care of female pelvic floor disorders, and IUGA Regional Symposia designed as technical sessions held in regions of the world where Urogynecology is already represented. The organization has recently grown to nearly 3,000 members whose enthusiastic participation in IUGA Committees has contributed to the production of important IUGA sponsored documents.

Public Transport

Launched in 2010, MyCiti forms part of the City of Cape Town's aim to provide fast, affordable and environmentally conscious transport. The Bus Rapid Transit System, which is the first of its kind (along with Rea Vaya in Johannesburg) in Mzansi, operates along designated routes, which cover much of the seaside metropolis. MyCiti has an extensive and efficient route along the Atlantic Seaboard, and also offers up a helpful and affordable airport route. The transport mode continues to grow as part of the City of Cape Town's Integrated Rapid Transport system plan, and has the intention to expand to the Southern Suburbs region with a Wynberg/Plumstead to Khayelitsha channel. Good to know: Whether or not travellers are regular MyCiti users, it's best to have a card regardless. The cards cost a once-off fee of R35 and are available from appointed kiosks and participating retailers.

Taxis

While these aren't necessarily the most economical transport alternative, they do come in handy when there is no taxi/bus/train in sight, or if commuters need to get to somewhere that isn't a common public transport route. Costs differ from cab company to cab company, but the base range is R10 per kilometre, with between R30 and R40 being the minimum fee. Good to know: To make sure that you know how much your trip is really worth, make sure that you have an idea of the kilometres of your route so that you don't overpay. It's also always good to have a trusted cab number already saved on your phone for ease of access.

Shopping

Cape Town is home to many upmarket shopping malls most of which include big chain stores and smaller boutiques as well as banking facilities, restaurants and coffee shops and movie theatres. Depending on their locations, some malls also offer curio shops. Most malls offer safe, pay-per-hour parking.

Most shops in the city centre and suburbs open between 08:00 and 17:00/ 17h30. Shops in major shopping malls open at 09:00 and close at 21:00 or later (especially at the V&A Waterfront), even on Sundays and most public holidays. Government agencies still keep to traditional weekday only hours. Most banks close at 15h30, and have limited Saturday morning opening hours.

Eating Out

Cape Town is at the cutting edge of culinary trends and tastes. Beach cafes, coffee shops, fine dining restaurants, neighborhood pizza joints, buzzing cocktail spots or hipster hangouts await you.

Tipping

Tipping is at your discretion and given if you receive a good service. All fees in South Africa are VAT inclusive but do not include service fees.

Smoking Policy

Under South African law smoking is not permitted in any public spaces including pubs, restaurants, hotel lobbies, and all enclosed public areas.

Insurance

The Congress Organisers have taken reasonable care in making arrangements for the Congress, Exhibition and Social Events. Neither the organising body, the local organising committee, the Professional Conference Organiser nor its sponsors assume any responsibility, contractual or delictual for any loss, injury or damage to persons or additional expenses incurred as a result of delays or changes in air, rail, sea, road or other services, strikes, sicknesses, weather, or for any acts or omissions by any persons, or for any unforeseen changes to the programme including cancellation of the Congress due to force majeure or any related events or activities. All participants are accordingly advised to make their own arrangements for adequate insurance cover including personal health and travel insurance.

Photography

Please note there will be an official photographer at the annual meeting. Photographs taken during the event may be used in future IUGA publications. Please do not take photographs during scientific sessions.

Mobile Phones

Participants are kindly requested to keep their mobile phones switched off during sessions.

This information is published and available online through the IUGA annual meeting website at www.iugameeting.org. Lyra Medical

Booth 31

Lyra medical introduces a new implant in the surgical treatment of women suffering from pelvic organ prolapse (POP). The company's self-retaining support (SRS) technology eliminates the need for complex anchoring techniques to assure a safe and long-term treatment solution. The company's SRS technology is presently being applied for the treatment of advanced anterior vaginal wall prolapse with or without apex / uterine prolapse.

Lyra's technology mimics the natural anatomy and restores pelvic organs to their functional and physiological location. It represents a new anchorless method that significantly improves current transvaginal mesh (TVM) solutions. SRS technology was developed to eliminate the high complication rate associated with current anchored TVMs and reverse the low success rate associated with native-tissue repair. Since 2014, Lyra's solution was proven in clinical trials to deliver exceptional safety and long-term efficacy.

Indications:

The Altis Single Incision, Aris Transobturator and Supris Retropubic Sling Systems are indicated for the treatment of female stress urinary incontinence (SUI) resulting from urethral hypermobility and/or intrinsic sphincter deficiency (ISD). Contraindications: Altis, Aris or Supris slings should not be used in pregnant women, or in women planning future pregnancies or any patient with potential for future growth. Altis, Aris or Supris slings should not be used in those who are taking anticoagulant therapy, who have an abnormal urethra, who have an intra-operative urethral injury, are immunocompromised, who have a sensitivity to polypropylene, have a pre-existing local or systemic infection, who are immunocompromised, or women that have a known or suspected pathology which would compromise implant or implant placement. Warnings and Precautions: It is the responsibility of the surgeon to advise the prospective patients or their representatives, prior to surgery, of the possible warnings and precautions associated with the use of this product and the associated surgical risks. Altis, Aris and Supris Sling Systems should only be used by surgeons familiar with the surgical procedures and techniques involving transvaginal placement of non-absorbable meshes and who have adequate education and experience in the treatment of female SUI. Based on physician experience and education, a thorough assessment of each patient should be made to determine the suitability of a synthetic mesh procedure. The patient should be counseled that alternative non-mesh incontinence surgeries may be appropriate, and the reason for choosing a mesh procedure should be explained. Physician should obtain patient consent prior to surgery and ensure that the patient has an understanding of the postoperative risks and potential complications of transvaginal mesh surgery. Patient counseling should include a discussion that the mesh to be implanted is a permanent implant, and that some complications associated with the implanted mesh may require additional surgery; repeat surgery may not resolve these complications. Serious adverse tissue responses or infection may require removal of mesh. Adverse Effects: Potential adverse events are those associated with surgery using implantable synthetic mesh materials. As with all foreign bodies, the Altis, Aris, Supris sling is likely to exacerbate any existing infection. Local irritation at the wound site and/or a foreign body response may occur. The following complications are known to occur with synthetic mesh implantation: mesh erosion (e.g., vaginal, bladder), mesh extrusion, mesh exposure, infection, pain (acute or chronic), and bladder, bowel, urethra, vagina, vessel, and/or nerve perforation/injury. There is also the risk of complete failure of the procedure resulting in continued incontinence due to incomplete support or overactive bladder. The occurrence of these events may require partial or complete removal of the sling. Patients should be monitored regularly after the device has been implanted for immediate treatment of any adverse reaction.

See the device instructions for use for detailed information regarding the implant procedure, warnings/precautions, adverse reactions, prior to using this product.
